Jared Braithwaite represents clients facing technology-related litigation by employing optimum and efficient strategies that protect their assets while mitigating risk.

A partner and intellectual property litigation, privacy, and data security lawyer with Foley & Lardner LLP, Jared is based in the firm's Salt Lake City office and a member of the Innovative Technology and Health Care & Life Sciences Sectors.

Clients turn to Jared when faced with business disputes and litigation involving trademarks, copyrights, unfair competition, trade secrets, and other matters. He also counsels clients on cutting-edge data protection issues, including privacy policies, regulation compliance, incident response planning and preparedness, and due diligence in corporate transactions. His representative clients are active in software and information technology, communications, electronics, consumer products, medical devices, and biotechnology.

Jared has appeared before the International Trade Commission (ITC) and in state and federal courts across the country, including the U.S. Supreme Court and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. He is a Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP/US), a Certified Information Privacy Technologist (CIPT), and is actively involved in the Utah Bar's Cyberlaw Section, for which he previously served as a section chair.

Representative Experience*

- Represented leading fitness company in patent, trademark, trade secret, advertising, and unfair competition lawsuits in courts across the United States, including before the ITC.
- Represented startup optical communications company to secure early dismissal and responsive industry messaging against unfounded trade secret misappropriation and unfair competition claims brought by an established competitor interfering with the startup's business.
- Represented leading basketball backboard manufacturer against major competitor in multi-forum patent litigation in the U.S. District Courts and ITC to collect patent royalties on a substantial portion of the market not covered by the client's own sales.

- Represented software company with respect to software source code misappropriation by a customer in bet-the-company litigation, and secured preliminary injunction and multimillion-dollar jury verdict based on copyright infringement, trade secret misappropriation, and other wrongs.

Certain of these matters were handled prior to joining Foley.*
