As vice chair of Foley's national Securities Enforcement & Litigation Practice Group, Todd Murray brings more than 28 years of trial and board-level consulting experience to high-profile financial disputes and fraud cases involving both public and private companies.

His courtroom experience — which includes a successful verdict in a multimillion-dollar Ponzi scheme trial and successful outcomes in hundred-million-dollar securities class actions — focuses on class actions, securities litigation, director and officer fiduciary duty and corporate governance disputes, corporate litigation involving complex accounting and financial issues, and energy-related matters. His clients are located throughout the United States and comprise a wide variety of business types, sizes, and industries. His core practice also includes representing clients in SEC enforcement actions.

Todd is a co-editor of the nationally recognized PLI Audit Committee Deskbook; a popular contributor to CLE and CPE seminars on various aspects of D&O insurance, securities fraud, and fiduciary duty liability; and he remains the long-tenured secretary of the North Texas Chapter of the National Association of Corporate Directors. Todd holds a Master of Science in Accounting and, prior to law school, was an auditor at one of the largest public accounting firms in the world, specializing in forensic accounting, fraud investigations, and damage modeling.

Todd has appeared in matters across the country, and his clients have included:

- AllianceRx Walgreens
- Daseke, Inc.
- Deloitte & Touche
- Ernst & Young
- H&S Production, Inc.
- Idearc, Inc.
- Innovative Industrial Properties, Inc.

- KPMG
- Morgan Keegan
- Official Committee of Equity Security Holders of Eastern 1996D Limited Partnership
- Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors of Carbo Ceramics, Inc.
- Park Place Motorcars
- Directors and Officers of Penson Worldwide, Flowserve, Key Energy, Affiliated Computer Systems, and other major corporations

Representative Experience

Accounting Representations

Todd has a track record as a seasoned, strategic, trial lawyer in multimillion- and even billion-dollar cases that turn on accounting, accounting interpretations, or related issues. Todd's experience working with accounting experts to define case issues and develop those concepts before a jury sets him apart from most litigators.

Examples include:

- Representation of the former owner of the Dallas-based former owner of a world-class manufacturing company responsible for the construction of the roof of SoFi Stadium, constructed for the Los Angeles Rams, in an earn-out dispute involving claims in excess of US $17m.
- Defense of an arbitration demand seeking damages in excess of US $20m, filed against one of the nation's largest specialized transportation and logistics companies.
- Defense decision in an adversary proceeding between the owners of a large Dallas auto dealership group and a minority owner.
- Plaintiff's verdict, in excess of US $13m, in favor of one of the premier Dallas auto dealership groups against a former executive on claims arising from a Ponzi scheme.
- Representation of multiple clients in fiduciary duty disputes arising from one of the largest land swindles in North Texas, involving fictitious plans that Walt Disney had planned a new resort north of Dallas, Texas.
- Representation of a large national brokerage firm in multibillion-dollar claims brought by an NYSE-listed insurance conglomerate based in Canada.
- Defense of a 10b-5 securities action filed against one of the Big-Four accounting firms, against claims arising from a telecommunications merger.
- Defense of a Big-Four accounting firm in multimillion-dollar securities-related claims arising out of the failure and bankruptcy of a publicly-traded travel and real estate company.
- Representation, in fiduciary duty litigation filed in Delaware and Canada, of the largest stockholder of a Canadian company in claims related to an acquisition of a U.S.-based company.

Audit Committee and Board Representations

Whether leading the representation of an audit committee in an internal investigation or counseling a board of directors on matters related to board governance, stockholder issues, or short-selling activity, Todd provides Careful, practical insights and advice to audit committees and boards, and he understands the client's business interests because of his background as a former Big-Eight auditor. Examples include:

- Leading an audit committee investigation involving alleged fraud and material weaknesses in internal controls for an NYSE-listed company.
- Leading an audit committee investigation regarding certain public disclosures and possible Regulation FD violations by management for a Nasdaq-listed company.
- Representation of the audit committee in fiduciary duty lawsuits and SEC enforcement proceedings after the failure and bankruptcy of a Nasdaq-listed brokerage and clearing house.
- Representation of one of the nation's largest specialty pharmacy companies in connection with a dispute between the company's largest stockholders.
- Representation of an independent diversified bank and its board of directors in connection with an unsuccessful merger with a Nasdaq-listed regional bank.
- Representation of the officers of a large directory business after negative public disclosures shortly after its spinoff from a national telephone and broadband provider.
- Leading an audit committee investigation related to internal controls for an NYSE-listed agricultural partnership.
- Representation of the audit committee of an NYSE-listed information technology services company in multiple shareholder fiduciary duty actions filed based on allegations of option back-dating.
- Defense, in fiduciary duty litigation, of one of the nation's largest grocery companies in claims involving certain partnerships with online companies. Representation of a special litigation committee of a publicly-traded health care insurance company in claims related to alleged breaches of fiduciary duty by the company's chairman.

Securities and Other Class Action Defense

When it comes to bet-the-company class actions, Todd has more than 28 years of experience handling some of the largest and most-publicized securities and other types of class actions litigated anywhere. Todd has in-depth experience with the largest D&O insurance carriers and their claims management process, and he was for nearly 10H years a member of AIG's securities class action panel. With his accounting background, Todd brings added perspective to class actions that turn on accounting fraud and internal controls issues.

Examples include:
