Ellen Ostrow is a partner and litigation attorney at Foley & Lardner LLP. She focuses her practice on restructuring and bankruptcy, serving as a strategic advisor to clients to help them resolve their bankruptcy and creditors' rights disputes in a timely, cost-effective manner.

Ellen has extensive experience representing multiple unsecured creditors' committees in the bankruptcies of manufacturers, event operators, restaurants, and health food suppliers, Chapter 11 debtors in bankruptcies in the entertainment, mining, and housing industries, and Chapter 15 foreign representatives. Additionally, Ellen has experience advising purchasers of distressed assets and various creditors, including secured lenders and major power purchase agreement creditors in energy industry bankruptcies and suppliers in large retail bankruptcies.

Ellen has successfully represented clients in complex litigation in state and federal courts, including fraudulent transfers, voidable transactions, receivership, and Uniform Commercial Code disputes.

Prior to joining the Firm, Ellen served as a judicial clerk to the Honorable William T. Thurman of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Utah.
